

Speaker Biography

Session Details

| | |
|-------|--|
| Date | Friday 30 September 2016 |
| Time | 11:45am – 12:30pm |
| Title | What does 'home' mean – a sense of place at the end of life? |

Dr Ros Taylor MBE DL

Clinical Director, Hospice UK

Ros is Clinical Director at Hospice UK. She combines her role at the charity with her work as a palliative doctor at the Royal Marsden Hospital in Fulham, London, one of the world's leading specialist cancer treatment hospitals.

Ros joined Hospice UK as a director in October 2014. Prior to that she had been a trustee at the charity since 2009 and was also the Director of the Hospice of St Francis in Berkhamsted, a position she held from 1996 until 2015.

She qualified as a doctor at Cambridge University in 1981 and has more than 20 years' experience in palliative care, working across hospice, community and hospital settings.

She has a special interest in medical education, medical humanities, 'whole person care' and has lectured widely, both nationally and internationally.

Ros is also a Deputy Lieutenant in the County of Hertfordshire and was awarded an MBE for Services to Hospice Care in 2014.

NAHH Annual Conference 2016

Hospice at Home – achieving national ambitions, making an impact

Thursday 29th – Friday 30th September 2016

The Mercure Bristol Holland House Hotel and Spa, Bristol